

Newtown Chamber Orchestra

The Newtown Chamber Orchestra is proud to celebrate its 25th Season and be among the excellent arts organizations contributing to the rich cultural tradition of Bucks County. Created in 1990 by fellow musicians Russell Hoffmann, Milton Schwartz, and Craig Smith, the non-profit Newtown Chamber Orchestra performs music from Baroque to present day. The orchestra features nationally known soloists and performs premieres of new works. The orchestra promotes music education through 3 free youth programs. Students and their families enjoy the free Kids Connect to the Classics Concert, Musicians in the Schools and the Young Musicians Competition for 9th-12th grade students.

The mission of the Newtown Chamber Orchestra is to:

- Present a stimulating and culturally enriching experience of chamber music for audiences of all ages and varying levels of music knowledge.
- Provide a greater understanding and enjoyment of classical music, traditional and contemporary, and to retain and celebrate our musical heritage.
- Partner with neighboring school districts to educate and nurture children in the appreciation of live music by providing free family classical concerts, in-school performances, and recognition of young musicians in the community.

Reflections

While many memories come to mind, working with the Newtown Chamber Orchestra has been one of the most rewarding in my life. It is a great source of pride that I have been able to provide a distinctive cultural experience of diverse programming based on the classical music genre to the Bucks County community. It is my hope to see the NCO continue for many generations. The arts are perhaps the greatest treasure we have in our society, and with the NCO, I am very pleased to be part of it.

Russell Hoffmann

As President of the Board of Trustees of the Newtown Chamber Orchestra, I encourage you to join us for our upcoming 25th anniversary season. Please share in the exciting programming, soloists, and musical interpretations that have been the reasons why this orchestra has been the center of classical programming over the past several decades in our community.

Russel Bechtloff

Reflecting over the past 25 years with the Newtown Chamber Orchestra brings to mind how fortunate I have been to participate as both a musician and board member in bringing the gift of live classical music to our community. The beautiful and emotional joy of music uplifts and strengthens our collective psyche.

Milton A. Schwartz
